

Instructions for the Branch Bud Book of Form to Function

1. Make a copy of all of the pages of the packet for each Branch Bud.
2. Explain that each child may either cut pictures out of a magazine of each horse example, or may use photographs.
3. Present the concept that form to function means choosing the correct animal for the activity you want to do. It would be difficult to use a Clydesdale for a race horse, or a Shetland pony for farming.
4. Staple the pages together with the title page in front. The child may make a cover from construction paper if desired and decorate as they wish.
